EMPIRE'S WAR LEADER ARRIVES

THOUSANDS OF CITIZENS WITNESS DEDICATION OF STRIKING WAR MEMORIAL

Hon. W. C. Nichol Unveiled Monument in Parliament Square Yesterday in Presence of Veterans, Relatives and the General Public; Sculptors Present.

With a gentle shower for accompaniment as if the heavens were shedding tears appropriate to the solemn occasion, Victoria's monument to the imperishable memory of her glorious dead was formally unveiled and dedicated yesterday afternoon in Parliament Square. His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor performed the ceremony in the presence of a gathering of citizens numbering many thousands, for whom the first glimpse of the bronze, trench-helmeted, khaki-clad warrior of the memorial rolled away the mists of the intervening years and brought back poignant memories of the tragic days of 1914-1918.

The scene in Parliament Square was an unforgettable one. With the stately pile of the Parliament Buildings for background, its green lawns and arching trees for a setting, thousands of citizens stretched as far as the eye could reach. In the immediate foreground the blue and white of the naval guard, the khaki of the military, companies of Boy Scouts and Girl Guides, and the standards of the I.O.D.E. threw into relief the massive grey plinth of the memorial with its flag-shrouded figure. A breathless hush followed the unveiling and as the life-like figure of the soldier, epitome of Canada's manhood during her time of stress, came into view many eyes were dimmed at the memories of gallant lads who had fought their last fight and were no more.

VETERANS' PARADE

Hundreds of ex-service men of the Great War and grey-haired veterans of other wars, marched across the causeway, led by Col. Cy. Peck, V.C. and Sergt. Major Hatcher, and preceded by the band of the 16th Canadian Scottish. All wore their medals and decorations. Arrived at the Parliament grounds this gallant company took up their position near the memorial, flanked by contingents from the Naval Yard and Work Point Barracks.

Some there were to whom war still meant hours of suffering in hospital, and here and there a spinal carriage of an invalid, chain-borne, a war-torn veteran anxious to pay a tribute to comrades who had "gone West."

BEREAVED RELATIVES

In a position of vantage specially reserved for them were the relatives of the fallen heroes. Mothers, fathers, widows and their children were in that brave company, many of them proudly wearing the decorations of their honored dead; all carrying offerings of flowers to place on the memorial in tribute to loved ones. Sorrow fought with pride as memories were stirred, and tears stole down cheeks and fell on to wreath and posy.

His Honor and Mrs. Nichol arrived shortly after 3 o'clock, and with them on the platform were Premier Oliver, Mayor Pendray, Commander Brabant, R.N., Col. Brown, Col. Peck, V.C., Sydney March, the sculptor, and Vernon March, his brother, and Lindley Crease, K.C., chairman of the war memorial committee.

COAL DISPUTE INQUIRY SOON IN OLD LAND

Official Investigation Announced To-day by Premier Baldwin; Miners Met

London, July 13.—Premier Baldwin announced in the House of Commons to-day that the Government had decided to establish a court of inquiry regarding the causes of the present dispute in the coal mining industry of Great Britain.

MINERS NOTIFIED

Scarborough, Eng., July 13.—The executive of the Miners' Federation of Great Britain meeting here to-day, received notification from the Government that an inquiry into the dispute between the coal mine workers and owners would be held. The Government's notification so disrupted the scheduled programme of the meeting that it adjourned immediately without making an official announcement. It was learned, however, that while the miners had reached no decision regarding acceptance of the proposed court of inquiry, many members of the executive believe such an inquiry would form the basis for negotiations with the owners.

RENEWED DISCUSSION

London, July 13.—The British mine owners, while declining to withdraw their notice of intention to terminate the agreement with the miners, notified the mediator, W. C. Bridgman, of their willingness to reopen the discussion at the point where it was suspended.

This proposal was submitted to the Miners' Federation at its meeting to-day in Scarborough.

CROW'S NEST RATES TO BE ENDED JULY 23

Order Made by Rail Commission; Grain Eastbound Not Included

Steps Now Being Taken Toward General Equalization of Freight Rates

Ottawa, July 13.—Crow's Nest rates on commodities other than grain and flour eastbound will cease to be effective on July 23 next. An order of the Board of Railway Commissioners provides for a return to the general rates in effect prior to July 23, 1924.

Under the law passed at the recent session of Parliament, the Railway Commission has full authority over the rates with the exception of those on flour and grain eastbound.

In the case of these commodities, the law expressly states the maximum rates must not be higher than provided in the Crow's Nest Pass Agreement.

Definite steps toward a revision and general equalization of freight rates in Canada have already been taken up by the Board of Railway Commissioners.

UNVEILING OF VICTORIA'S WAR MEMORIAL TO HEROIC DEAD

VICTORIA GIVES GREAT GREETING TO EARL HAIG

Thousands Pack Wharf to Cheer Famous Military Chief; Organizations Pay Tribute to Leader of British Forces in Great War.

Victoria gave a right royal and rousing reception to Earl Haig, of Bemerseyde this morning. Thousands of citizens assembled in the vicinity of the Canadian Pacific Railway wharf to greet the distinguished soldier and according to a member of the Earl's entourage, the assembly was the largest to greet the Field Marshal since he left Winnipeg. The lustiness of the cheers left no doubt as to the sincerity of Victoria's welcome. Long before the appointed hour crowds began to gather at the wharf and along Belleville Street, swelled by a big contingent of veterans who were eagerly anticipating a reunion with a former comrade-in-arms.

HAIG SPEAKS TO VICTORIANS AS SIMPLE SOLDIER

Comes to Canada Only to Unite His "Gallant Fellows," He Tells Canadian Club

Three Hundred Give Thundering Welcome to Britain's Wartime Commander

Field Marshal Earl Haig spoke to the Canadian Club here to-day as a plain British soldier. Standing before a gathering of 300 men and women, who cheered him to the echo, the Commander of Britain's forces in the Great War told his listeners that he had come to Canada simply in an effort to unite all "the gallant fellows" who had fought under him. The object of the British Empire League, of which he is the head, was to bring the returned men together not only to protect their own interests but to perpetuate the British ideals which found their full expression on the battlefields of France, he said.

The mob, which included several women and children, rounded up the Japanese laborers, loaded them with their belongings into motor trucks and carried them beyond the county line, leaving them to shift for themselves. No weapons were used in the fight with the guards who attempted to prevent the expulsion, but fist fights were general and several of the mill force and townsmen were severely beaten.

BRITISH COLUMBIA'S 1925 APPLE CROP IS ESTIMATED NOW AT 2,097,900 BOXES

Ottawa, July 13.—Commercial apple crop prospects in Canada at July 2 last indicated a total crop equivalent to ninety-five per cent of the crop of 1924, when 2,799,544 barrels were harvested, or 64.1 per cent of the five-year average of 3,088,504 barrels, according to a crop report issued by the Department of Agriculture.

The prospective commercial apple crop of British Columbia, compared with 1924, indicates ninety per cent or 2,097,900 boxes, or 80.5 per cent of a five-year average crop, the report states. A slight reduction was caused by the winter injury and the hot weather during the past month.

BRIEF RAIN HALTS GRAVE FIRE MENACE IN B.C.'S FORESTS

Showers Dampen Parched Woods, Halt Fires and Prevent New Outbreaks

Break in Drought Occurs Just in Time to Prevent Grave Situation

Last night's general rains along the coast of British Columbia halted what threatened to develop into one of the worst fire situations in the history of British Columbia, according to reports received at the Provincial Forestry Headquarters in the Lands Department here to-day.

The sudden change from hot, dry weather to a period of rain and cloud not only prevented the probable outbreak of many new fires, but stopped the spread of fires already burning. During the present lull in the dry spell fire fighters all over the Province will be able to consolidate their lines in preparation for the next period of drought. Enormous quantities of timber were saved by the brief rainstorm of yesterday afternoon and last night, it is believed.

JUST IN TIME

The change in the weather came just in time, for last week witnessed the fire situation growing every day in gravity. No less than 135 new outbreaks were reported during the week, bringing the total for the season so far up to 875. This figure is creeping up alarmingly near the disastrous total of 1924, when at this time 1,103 outbreaks had been reported. In 1923 at this stage only 490 fires had occurred.

The southern interior of the Province has suffered most from fire so far, with 313 outbreaks. Lightning around the Cranbrook district recently started a score of new fires in the woods there. In the Vancouver district, including Vancouver Island, 224 fires have been reported; in Prince Rupert 127, in Prince George 101, in Cariboo 75 and in Kamloops 35. Up to last night the Vancouver district had been regarded as the most hazardous in the Province.

LASTING IMPRESSION
Earl Haig's speech was brief, lasting only four or five minutes, but he left a lasting impression on his audience. A strikingly handsome and erect figure with white hair and mustache, he wore the plain khaki service uniform of a British staff officer. He spoke with a steady and simply without any attempt at oratory—a typical soldier's speech.

President James Foreman, who introduced Earl Haig, called him the representative of British returned soldiers all over the Empire. The Field Marshal, he pointed out, had come to Canada to unite the returned soldiers who were better fitted for the task. He hoped that as a result of Earl Haig's visit the immigration of Britishers to Canada would show a substantial increase. As Earl Haig rose to speak he was greeted by three thundering cheers, followed by deafening applause and more cheers.

APPRECIATES WELCOME

The Earl expressed keen appreciation of the welcome he had received here and modestly interpreted this greeting not as a personal tribute, but as a recognition to his position of commander-in-chief of all those gallant followers who fought in the war.

The objects of returned soldier organizations all over the world, he mentioned, were the same. The object of the new British Empire League was to unite all the returned men not only to protect their own interests and those of their dependents, but also to perpetuate and consolidate British ideals. The league, he explained, is entirely democratic, its officers being all elected. The head of the organization in Britain, he remarked, had been a bombardier in the war. The Field Marshal referred to all the officers of the league to show that it represented every part of the Empire.

OUR OWN LEAGUE

"While the new organization favored the League of Nations it felt," said Lord Haig, "that we should first develop our own League of Nations. Already," he added, "a spirit of great friendship had sprung up between the League and the American Legion."

He expressed satisfaction with his interview with returned men here.

Earl Haig Had Many Requests to Unveil War Memorials

Some explanation, which will be amplified in his speech at the Royal Victoria Theatre to-night, why Field Marshal Earl Haig was unable to unveil Victoria's war memorial has been given since his arrival. His programme in Canada has kept him busy virtually every minute of the day and conferences and meetings in connection with his plan for unity of veterans throughout the British Empire have occupied most of his time. Before he left England Earl Haig had received twenty-nine applications to unveil war memorials in Canada. The acceptance of these would have meant further requests to officiate at other ceremonies after his arrival. Had he consented Earl Haig's time would have been completely occupied unveiling memorials.

FRENCH GOVERNMENT PREDICTING SURPLUS

13,000,000 Francs if Revenue and Expenditure in Year Are as Calculated

Paris, July 13.—After being sent from the Chamber of Deputies to the Senate no fewer than six times, France's budget for 1925 was definitely voted long after dawn this morning.

Finance Minister Caillaux remained to the bitter end, speaking in the Senate and Chamber at each reappearance of the measure and thus being prevented from going to the bedside of his wife, who had been injured in an automobile accident.

As finally voted, the budget shows estimated receipts of 33,154,000,000 francs and expenditures of 33,137,000,000, giving a surplus of 17,000,000.

The Senate's vote of adoption was 714 to 6, and in the Chamber there was merely a show of hands without debate.

RACING BETS DOWN TWENTY PER CENT; PUBLIC CAUTIOUS

Landsdowne Totals Show Big Drop From Last Year as Season Proceeds

Officials Anticipate Continued Reduction and Much Smaller Total

British Columbia race track followers are cutting their bets far below the total of last year's reckless orgy of gambling, according to figures issued to-day by taxation officials in charge of race track returns. These show that betting during the first two days of the recent Landsdowne meet in Vancouver dropped twenty per cent below the totals of corresponding days a year ago.

The total for the first two days of racing at Landsdowne this year was $165,590 as against $208,005 last year, a reduction of $44,415. On the first day this year only $84,377 was wagered as against $119,999 on the first day of last year's meet. On the second day this year the wagers dropped to $79,213 as against $88,004 a year ago.

Government taxation on the two days' operations this year will amount to $7,574.

Taxation officials here attribute these marked drops in wagers to the publicity given to race track gambling last year. Large crowds are much more careful than formerly about their bets. It is believed that the reductions recorded so far this season will continue at the other meets yet to be held.

PARKSVILLE WOMAN TO RUN FOR OFFICE

Institute to Have Candidate For School Trustee

The monthly meeting of the Parksville Women's Institute, was held on the beach. Sixteen members attended. Mrs. H. K. Harrison, vice-president, presided. A lively discussion took place regarding the Chinese peddler and members agreed to purchase from white growers. The cafeteria report on July 1, was read, $7.21 being made over expenses. Mrs. Harrison explained that it was merely a day for children and that most people brought baskets. Instead of patronizing the lunch counter. A letter was read from the Local Council of Women at Nanaimo, regarding affiliation, but as these were not many members present the question was left over till the August meeting. There were pros and cons regarding the nurse question and members were asked to go to the annual school meeting and decide there—one member said she thought the district nurse was an unnecessary luxury, and that Parksville was too healthy a place to need one. A member was nominated, and agreed to stand for the school board at the coming annual meeting. Mrs. Harrison mentioned that next month is the tenth birthday of the local Institute, and asked that committees be formed so as to endeavor, as far as possible, in making the anniversary a great day, and to get each member working and interested—suggestions to be sent to the vice-president or secretary. Transportation for the Errington members was next discussed, and it was decided to ask each for a nominal sum, and also to have a box where contributions could be placed.

GYRO CONVENTION IS TO END TO-DAY

Business Session in Vancouver This Morning; Dance This Evening

Vancouver, July 13.—Although Vancouver is the official 1925 convention city of the International Association of Gyro Clubs, the visiting members refuse to "stay put," as evidenced by the numerous expeditions on the programme of their four-day "open air" sessions which will end today.

The Gyros and Gyrettes returned yesterday from Victoria, where they had gone on Saturday, holding business sessions en route. To-day the delegates will complete the annual meeting with a short business gathering in the morning, followed by a luncheon, excursions in the afternoon and a banquet and dance in the evening.

Winnipeg has been chosen as the convention city for 1926.

FOREST OF PETRIFIED GIANT OAKS FOUND ON COLUMBIA RIVER BANK
Spokane, Wash., July 13.—Discovery of a petrified forest of giant oak trees, believed to be the only one of its kind on the North American continent, has been made near the confluence of the Spokane and Columbia rivers in this state. E. M. Tardy, United States school inspector for the Indian Department, now located on the Colville Indian Reservation, announced the find, which was made by Dr. W. A. Johnston.

Owing to its difficulty of access, the forest has not yet been fully explored, but is known to extend for half a mile along the south bank of the Columbia. The trees are two to five feet in diameter and some sixty feet tall.

"The forest, of what apparently was a growth of solid rock, grew on one of the first of the great flows of basalt that partially covered that part of the state of Washington," Mr. Tardy said. "The trees then were covered by subsequent flows."

"The extent of the preserved forest is not yet determinable, as the location makes exploration extremely difficult. However, the ledges where the formations are plainly visible, the fallen trunks of giant trees are in open sight and by carefully passing along the precipitous canyon, the standing trees may be seen to reach a height of sixty feet or more. The diameter of many of the larger specimens is as much as five feet, and a tree two feet in diameter is common."

HOLLOW SHAFTS
"To view the work of time on the precipitous walls of the canyon it is necessary to scale the cliffs and pass over the ledges made by the breaking away of the solid rock. This weathering has gone far enough to open a passage into the forest that in reality honeycombs the hillside. Where the tree trunks have been brought into contact with the air, the wood has rapidly decomposed and left the hollow shafts in the solid rock."

By travelling along the ledges and breaking away the loose accumulations of small scalings, the hollow forest may be entered, one tree at a time, as the wall of the canyon is of solid basalt and the openings are where the trunks of the tree offer perpendicular shafts, most of which are still filled with the decaying wood of many centuries ago."

Mr. Tardy expressed the opinion that further exploration of the site might reveal the presence of animal life of the period when the molten rock overflowed the forest.

CHINA CONFERENCE IN EARLY FUTURE
Paris, July 13.—The French Foreign Office expects soon the calling of a nine-power conference in Peking to discuss revision of Chinese customs. This opinion results from the completion last week of France's ratification of the two Washington conferences regarding China.

Officials also assume a commission of the powers will meet at an early date to consider foreign extra-territoriality in China.

It is believed in official circles proposals will be made to the conference for a loan to China based upon her proposed increased customs duties and to be used for stabilization of her finances.

DEST- DISCUSSION
Brussels, July 13.—The cabinet has designated Premier Thunin, Emile Francq, banker and Belgian Cattle, financier and statesman, as members of the Belgian commission to the United States for the discussion of plans for funding the Belgian debt. The commission will probably leave for Washington July 23.

CHANGE IN RULES OF SUPREME COURT
Montreal, July 13.—In order to facilitate the administration of justice and to accommodate members of the legal profession, petitions for permission to appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada which may be decided by a single judge of that tribunal, may be presented wherever in the Dominion such a judge is to be found, according to a statement made from the bench in the local courthouse by Mr. Justice Rinfret, of the Supreme Court of Canada.

For the first time in the judicial history of this province a justice of the Supreme Court sat officially on the bench in a local courtroom. The occasion was the presentation of two petitions from Quebec City, for permission to appeal to the Supreme Court against decisions of the Court of Appeal of this province in two bankruptcy cases.

FIRE IN QUEBEC CAUSE OF DEATHS

Two Men Lost Lives When Neptune Inn Destroyed; Several Injured

Quebec, July 13.—Two men lost their lives as a result of a fire which broke out in the Neptune Inn here at an early hour this morning. The victims were: R. Brown, a young Englishman and Joseph Picard, a retail lumberman. The former was suffocated in his room and his body was discovered by firemen after the flames had been subdued. Picard died in a hospital from the severe injuries he had sustained when he jumped from a window.

Number of Guests Forced to Jump From Second and Third-story Windows

Though several other persons were more or less injured, none of them have been reported serious. Both men and women jumped from windows when all other means of escape had been cut off by the flames.

CAUSE UNKNOWN
The fire is said to have started in the room of Mr. Picard, but the cause is unknown. The first alarm was turned in about 4.45 this morning and when the firemen arrived on the scene they found the famous old building wrapped in flames.

The excitement was intense, for it was necessary for many of the persons to jump from the second or third story windows.

The inn, which was one of the oldest in the city, was completely gutted, but the inside walls withstood the fire test fairly well. The building was regarded as a historic landmark and was formerly the home of the old Quebec Daily Chronicle.

Notes Pass Between Soviet and Poland
Warsaw, July 13.—The recent Russo-Polish frontier incidents have given rise to considerable exchange of notes between Warsaw and Moscow.

The Soviet Government in a communication to the Polish Minister in the Russian capital suggested the formation of a mixed commission to investigate the burning of a Soviet border guard station by Polish soldiers.

M. Morawski, Acting Polish Foreign Minister during the absence of M. Skrynski, demanded the return of a Polish officer, Lieut. Rondonne, seized by Russian soldiers near the border, and the punishment of Soviet troops who assaulted another officer, Lieut. Tencrowicz.

In a further note to the Soviet legation, M. Morawski called attention to the assassination of a Polish corporal by Soviet border troops.

MAGPIES CAUSE CATTLE MEN LOSS
Edmonton, July 13.—Magpies threaten to become a pest and a menace to newly-branded cattle on the ranges in the Cypress Hills district of Alberta. Pitting on the backs of the branded herds, the birds peck at the sores made in the branding process and torment the animals into a state of frenzy. Many beasts, it is reported, have died as a result.

It is now proposed to organize a campaign against the magpies, which are not protected by law.

Not only do the magpies injure the livestock, but they destroy young robins. Just as soon as the robins hatch out, the magpies descend upon the nests and prey upon the helpless young.

"The magpies are outlaws, like crows," states H. H. Mitchell, provincial naturalist, who favors a campaign of extermination.

Hindu Killed in Kelowna Affray
Kelowna, B.C., July 13.—Taka Singh, an elderly Hindu, was fatally stabbed here late Saturday night, and Gajor Singh, a fellow countryman, is held by the police in connection with the affray. A number of Hindus were in town during the day, and shortly before 11 o'clock, during an altercation, Gajor Singh is alleged to have attacked Taka Singh, who was seated in a ranch truck, stabbing him in the neck, breast and abdomen. Taka fell to the ground dead. Gajor Singh is alleged to have fled after the stabbing. He was arrested Sunday by Penitentiary police, and was brought here yesterday afternoon.

Lobster Was Red, Perhaps Turner Was Right After All!
New York, July 13.—Turner, the painter, has been held up to ridicule by critics for years because he painted a red lobster on a beach in one of his sea scenes.

However, a red lobster appeared in a consignment of the usual green ones at a New York market the other day and has been sent to a museum as an exhibit in Turner's favor.

CROP PROSPECTS IN SWEDEN FAVORABLE
Stockholm, July 13.—Reports from the various districts of Sweden received by the agricultural department show the crop prospects are better than they have been for the last ten years.

The weather was favorable and consequently the work in the fields started much earlier than usual. Wheat and rye are very forward.

With the continued favorable weather there is no doubt that it will mean a considerable decrease in the importation of foreign food stuff, especially American wheat. The importation of American wheat has shown a steady decrease during the last sixteen years.

FRENCHMEN PLAN ATLANTIC FLIGHT
Paris, July 13.—Paul Tarascon, French "ace" and pioneer in pre-war flying in Europe, has been bringing all the pressure he can to bear on M. Painleve at the War Office and M. Laurent Eynac of the aeronautic department to enable him to make his proposed non-stop flight across the Atlantic this Summer.

Tarascon, who lost a leg before the World War and had difficulty in getting into the service, will be accompanied by another skilled aviator if the flight is made, Francois Coll. A naval officer who accompanied Rogot on his France-Rumania flight and on his "stunt trip" of crossing the Mediterranean twice in one day.

It is planned to start the flight within 4 months, provided the necessary Government authorization can be obtained, leaving from Le Bourget aerodrome, west outside Paris, and making the jump to Mitchell Field on Long Island. The French air authorities are counselling the two pilots to take off from Ireland or nearer the French coast than Le Bourget, and to aim for Newfoundland as a first landing place. Tarascon and Coll, however, persist in maintaining the flight can be made without a landing and are demanding a fair chance to prove it.

The plane they intend to use is the Breguet "Paris-Tokio" model, made famous by Captain Pelletier d'Olay on his flight a year ago. The engine will be either the Hispano-Suiza or the new Renault.

EARL HAIG'S VISIT

VICTORIA'S WARM RECEPTION TO EARL HAIG TO-DAY was more than a tribute to a great soldier who the Empire's armies to victory in the most desperate conflict in history. It expressed beyond that an appreciation of qualities which, whether displayed in peace or war, always must command the admiration and respect of mankind. His military achievements perhaps will spring more quickly to mind. His fine leadership during the retreat from Mons in the first few weeks of the war; his accession to the command-in-chief of the British armies on the Continent; his direction of the campaigns of the Somme and in Flanders, and his irresistible offensive operations in the final months of the struggle are all so fresh in the memory that they suggest themselves with the bare mention of his name.

But this record of successful leadership accentuated by victory, of exceptional talent for triumph in military operations, gives us only the sensational chapters of the story. It merely outlines the picture of the man. From the commencement of the war until its end, and from the moment of the armistice to this day, Earl Haig has exhibited those further qualities which more than any other reflect greatness of character. Unflinching devotion to duty, invincible fortitude in adversity, subordination of self to a lofty cause, loyalty to his comrades-in-arms, are some of the virtues which complete the picture, and which, even if they had not associated him with triumph in the field, would have won the grateful affection of his fellow countrymen.

The most cherished recollection many people have of Earl Haig during the war was not his conduct of the triumphant offensive of August, 1918, which broke the Hindenburg Line and ended only with the armistice; it was when he issued the fateful message to his troops that they stood "with their backs to the wall and would retire no further." There, perhaps, more than at any other time, was presented the spectacle of a leader and an army who in the hardest testing proved that they were entirely worthy of one another.

To Earl Haig the war did not end his association with his comrades-in-arms. On the contrary he has made the cause of the ex-serviceman a matter of his unswerving personal concern. Instead of publishing books in justification of his policy and tactics as a military leader in the struggle, and criticizing those of other commanders, he has busied himself in improving the conditions of the overseas veterans, of composing their differences, uniting the various organizations and in other ways endeavoring to make them as effective an instrument for peace as they proved themselves to be for war. This is the purpose of his visit to Canada and it is a worthy one and entirely characteristic of the man.

EARL HAIG'S INQUIRY

EARL HAIG IS REPORTED to have asked whether Canada actually wants settlers from Britain. His doubt apparently had been occasioned by the fact that the influx since the war has not equalled by a long way the movement of twelve or fifteen years ago.

The answer to the Field-Marshal's question is that this country wants, and wants as quickly as possible, all the settlers Britain can send who are healthy in mind and body and willing to put in some hard work for a year or so. It may be amplified by the suggestion that the British Empire Legion should be able to render a valuable service to the British Commonwealth by instilling into the minds of all would-be migrants that success in any of the Dominions, like success at home, may not be achieved by the touch of a magic wand. It may also be said that the man who has made a mess of things in his native land should think seriously before trying a new country; although, as must be patent to everybody, a change of environment and conditions sometimes work wonders.

Under the direction of such a distinguished leader as Earl Haig the Legion should be in a position to assist the Government at Westminster and the governments of the Dominions in the matter of the future distribution of British peoples in British lands. It is satisfactory to observe that this is one of the organization's objects.

MISS LEEMING'S TRIUMPH

WHILE vigorous youth bowed to experience and generalship in the Canadian tennis encounter at Toronto last year, the young runner-up from Victoria on that occasion did what was expected of her this year and captured the national and two other championships. Thus will the Province in general and this city in particular extend the heartiest of congratulations to Miss Marjorie Leeming.

There seems to be no reason why this young Victorian should not battle her way to premier international honors before many years have passed. Her display all through the tournament in Vancouver was superior to that of her most experienced rivals and of a quality that is not usually produced save by the more prominent of the international exponents of the game. It is to be borne in mind also that everything is in Miss Leeming's favor. She is the possessor of vigorous youth and a tennis temperament—a combination which should enable her to do almost anything she desires in the realm in which she is so obviously at home.

While Victoria is proud of Miss Leeming's triumph, and naturally interested in the personal elation which she must have experienced, this community will also instinctively reflect upon the attention to this part of the world which her prowess will draw. Local interest will follow the further development of her experience on the courts and the popular wish will be that before long she will be included in that select circle of stars whose names are known the world over.

DR. EASTMAN'S TASK

ALTHOUGH THERE ARE a number of branches of the League of Nations Society of Canada in this Province, there are not many people who would seriously suggest that the interest in their operations is as keen as is usually manifested in a race meet or other less involved forms of entertainment. British Columbia nevertheless now has a very direct interest in one phase of the League's activities and at least a certain amount of provincial pride might justifiably be displayed in the fact that Dr. Mack Eastman, of the University of B.C., has just gone to Geneva to assume the important role of director of general studies in the research division of the International Labor office.

In this newly-created department of this branch of the League's activities an expert from each of ten nations will be employed. Its business will have to do largely with reconstruction problems, particularly as they affect the workers of Europe, while such matters as housing, immigration, civil re-establishment, social reform and subjects of a like nature will be examined in the most exhaustive manner possible. On Dr. Eastman will devolve the task of inaugurating the various processes that shall be employed and for the next twelve months he will direct the work of the division.

It will be recalled that the British Columbia professor is the Empire's choice. Dr. Eastman was not an applicant for the position; but he had previously spent considerable time in equipping himself for just such duties, and when Britain was asked to nominate a director for the division he was invited. This is a compliment to him and a compliment to both British Columbia and Canada as a whole. He is an ardent supporter of the League and its ideals and many audiences in this Province have enjoyed his lectures on this and other themes. In the meantime he may be assured of hearty congratulations from his "old boys."

NEWS OF OTHER DAYS

ITEMS WHICH APPEARED in newspapers more than a century ago would require but little change to make them applicable to the present day. Here is one such which comes from The Worcester (England) Herald of June 28, 1800: "Servants should be cautious at this season of the year not to throw the shells of peas or beans on the pavement, as many accidents are occasioned by such conduct."

One hundred and twenty-five years after this injunction was laid upon the "serving maids" of the ancient cathedral city it is at all times reasonable to drop a gentle hint to the general public about the uncertain conduct of a banana skin when pressed to the pavement by a modern shoe completely filled with an ordinary foot. From the same newspaper comes the announcement that on June 25, 1825, "The 'Royal Society of Pensioners' of this city celebrated the Battle of Waterloo, in which many of them fought and bled, and after a most excellent sermon . . . they proceeded through the principal streets to dine at the Union Tavern." At this well-known hotel of that day "the afternoon" passed "in the greatest harmony and conviviality."

Boy babies born in Dayton today should be named Simian.

HEALTH & DISEASE
SUNSTROKE

Of great frequency in tropical countries, sunstroke is of rare occurrence in the Pacific Northwest. In India and Mesopotamia, where many cases were seen during the war, it has been carefully observed and reported upon by army medical officers.

In temperate zones it occurs during hot waves in summer, especially when the humidity is high and there is little wind. The other predisposing factors are heavy clothing and severe exertion. A person at work, or a soldier on the march, may be suddenly stricken, but as a rule there are warning signs that tell of impending sunstroke. These signs are: Headache, dizziness, intense thirst and a feeling of oppression, anxiety, or restlessness. There is soon a fever which may reach a height seldom seen in any other illness. The skin is extremely hot and the face flushed.

The early restlessness goes on to delirium and convulsions, then gradually subsides into unconsciousness. In fatal cases, consciousness is not regained and death occurs usually within twenty-four hours. The condition is a dangerous one and must be taken seriously. Much depends upon the promptness and efficiency of treatment. The essentials of treatment are: A cool place where the patient may remain at rest and undisturbed, cold baths or ice packs, sedatives to combat the mental unrest, and a cool place where the patient should not be given. The aged and those of poor health are more likely to succumb. In alcoholics, the danger is great. A person suffering from sunstroke is rendered more liable to another, and less able to withstand it. Recovery from a severe attack of sunstroke is sometimes followed by persistent weakness, and such slight mental changes, as weakness of memory and inability for sustained mental effort. AESCULAPIUS.

LIBRARIANS WERE VISITORS TO CITY

Delegates From American Library Association Convention Here Saturday

A large party of delegates from the American Library Association sessions which were held in Seattle last week were visitors here Saturday afternoon. They were met at the boat by an entertainment committee headed by Miss Margaret Clay, president of the B. C. Library Association.

The delegates were driven around the city and then were taken on an inspection of the Provincial Library and Archives. The visitors had the various interesting sections of the collection of books, historic documents, diaries and records concerning the Pacific Northwest explained to them by the library staff.

One of the most interesting visitors at the convention held in Seattle was John Fenger, winner of the Newbery Prize for the best children's book of the year. His book was a collection of South American folk stories. The Newbery prize was awarded on the basis of popular vote, all children's libraries throughout the United States and Canada being eligible to ballot, and being given two weeks to send their ballots to Chicago.

Miss Margaret Clay, president of the B. C. Library Association, who attended the Seattle convention, reports that as the result of a conference of thirty or more Canadian delegates who attended the Canadian section sessions, a meeting is to be held in Vancouver this week for the purpose of organizing a Canadian Council.

W. O. Carson, inspector of public libraries for the Province of Ontario, presided at the meetings of the Canadian section. It was as the result of the conferences between these delegates that the decision to form a Canadian Advisory Council was made.

PREMIER'S ADDRESS

The Premier handed to Earl Haig an address of welcome from the Province of British Columbia, couched in the following terms:

"My Lord:
 'It is our pleasure on behalf of the Government and people of British Columbia to welcome you on your first visit to our Province.'

"We can assure you that this welcome is the warmest and most hearty that breathes the fellow feeling of thousands of our citizens who served under your command in the Great War, who from a long period of peace have been able to testify to your generous sympathy in all that makes for their betterment.

"As fellow subjects of the King in this part of the Empire we wish to testify our admiration of your leadership in our nation's greatest crisis, of your steadfastness through the years of trial, and of your moderation in the hour of victory.

"We believe that your visit will result not only in good to the veterans who served under you, but will also awaken among our people as a whole a warmer sense of their Imperial unity.

"Our one regret is that your stay is so brief, our earnest hope is that you may leave us so filled with pleasant memories of our Province and its people that you may be impelled to visit us again at an early date.

"JOHN OLIVER, Prime Minister.
 "WILLIAM SLOAN, Provincial Secretary."

Earl Haig, in reply, expressed his appreciation of the hearty welcome accorded him and his party throughout their trip and their pleasure at visiting British Columbia, with its splendid record of service in the Great War.

FOREST FIRE AREAS VISITED BY RAINS

Vancouver, July 13.—The north shore of Burrard Inlet was once more the scene of a major conflagration when a fire started Saturday afternoon in some slash on the limits of the Cedar Lumber Company Limited, on Lynn Creek.

Sunday morning the fire spread rapidly and covered over 300 acres of slash lands. A force of 150 men was rushed to the scene and after a hard battle managed to get it under control, with only slight loss occurring to standing timber. A considerable quantity of shingle bolts was damaged. The rain Sunday night assisted the fire fighters to a great extent.

The generous rainfall prevailing over the Fraser Valley districts relieved the forest-fire situation there, according to Edward Walmesley, Crown Timber Agent.

The serious conflagration which Friday threatened to wipe out the mill of the Commercial Lumber Company and much valuable timber near the Lillooet River is now practically out, without much loss.

Other fires in the valley are also reported to be well in hand.

The fire at Rock Bay, thirty miles north of Campbell River, is said to be well under control, and a similar situation is reported from other major outbreaks in the province.

MEMBERS OF PARTY

Other members of the party which accompanied the Earl across Canada included Lieutenant-Colonel Paret-Hett, W. Lees, Andrew Young, M.P., Captain J. L. Bennett, Hon. James Connell, M.L.C., S. E. Duggan, R. J. Walker, Major B. K. Reid, Lieutenant-Colonel Clark and Mrs. Clark, Brigadier-General A. S. Wylie and Mrs. Wylie, J. R. Griffen, Captain J. MacKenzie, M.P., Captain W. P. Walker, Major W. B. Leane and Mrs. Leane, Captain A. C. Kiddie, Captain Donald Simpson, honorary organizing secretary of the British Empire Legion; Lieutenant-Colonel T. Nangle, General and Mrs. MacBrien, J. A. McGill and Miss Patching.

AT VANCOUVER

Thousands of Great War Veterans and citizens enthusiastically welcomed the Field Marshal Earl Haig to the Pacific Coast, when the great British soldier arrived at Vancouver at 9 o'clock last night en route to the Pacific Coast. The reception was in formal one, the formal welcome being reserved for Tuesday evening, when his lordship returns from Victoria. Acting Mayor Worthington, aldermen, members of the military and naval forces, and heads of returned soldiers' organizations were on the station platform to greet Earl Haig. A great outburst of cheering greeted the Field Marshal as he stepped from his car and received the greetings of civic officials and of his old comrades.

The C.P.R. depot was crowded and the distance from the station to the wharf—where the Field Marshal boarded the boat for Victoria, was packed with returned men and the public, who heartily extended a cheering welcome to the great soldier passing through.

Primitive Human Skull Was Found

Jerusalem, July 13.—An interesting discovery, in view of the evolution trial in the United States, was made recently in a cave at Tabgha, near Tiberias, when a primitive human skull was found among Mousterian flint deposits.

The skull, discovered by a British archaeologist and an Oxford student, is characterized by a prodigious development of the supraorbital prominence and depressed forehead as in the chimpanzee. It conforms slightly with the Neanderthal European type, not previously found on the continent of Asia.

Prof. Garvand, director of the British School of Archaeology in Jerusalem, who viewed the discovery, confirmed its scientific value.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily and Jingle's Trick

Copyright, 1925, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

(By Howard R. Garis)

Jingle and Jangle were two little rabbit girls who had come to live with Uncle Wiggily in his hollow stump bungalow, together with many other little bunnies. The only thing different about Jingle and Jangle was that they were very mischievous—they were always getting into some sort of trouble. Then, of course, they wanted Uncle Wiggily to help them.

"Do you know, Jangle," whispered Jingle to her sister one morning, "I've just like doing something. We don't have to go to school, as this is vacation. And I'd like to do something."

"What frinstitute?" asked Jangle, who was chewing gum and did not like the trouble to separate her words.

Just then Jingle saw Jackie Bow, one of the puppy dog boys, lying asleep in the sun, not far from the hollow stump bungalow. Jingle looked at Jackie. Then she looked at a tin can and a piece of string and then Jingle had a trick!

"I'm going to do a trick! I'm going to tie that tin can on Jackie's all and then I'm going to cry 'Boo!' and he'll wake up sudden-like and he'll run like anything. Won't that be a fine trick?"

"Oh, dandy!" chuckled Jangle. "I'll help you holler 'Boo!' and I'll help you tie the knot in the string."

So those two little rabbit girls went off to the sleeping dog and Jangle tied the tin can on his tail.

Nonsense, Jackie! laughed the bunny gentleman.

with Jangle helping to pull tight the knot in the string. Then the two little bunnies hid behind a bush and together they cried:

"Boo! Boo!"

Jackie Bow Woke suddenly and gave a bark. As he moved he felt something on his tail.

Now the tail is a very tender part of a dog, as you may know if you have ever heard a dog howl where his tail is stepped on by accident. So as soon as he felt something on his tail Jackie started to pull it away. But he couldn't get his tail away from that queer feeling, so he started to run. But no matter how fast he ran there was that tin can on his tail.

Only Jackie didn't turn around to see that it was a tin can. He just made his legs go as fast as anything and down the street he ran helping. Ahead of him he saw Uncle Wiggily, who was coming back from having gone to the store for Nurse Lane Fuzzy Wuzzy.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily!" barked Jackie. "The Skilley Scallery All-pier has hold of my tail!"

"Nonsense, Jackie!" laughed the bunny gentleman. "It is only an old tin can. You shouldn't tie a tin can on your tail and pretend it is an all-pier."

"I didn't tie that can on my tail!" barked Jackie in surprise, turning around to look at it. "I wonder who did!"

And Jingle and Jangle, hiding behind the bushes, couldn't help laughing just then, so Uncle Wiggily knew, without any one telling him, that the little rabbit girls had played this trick.

"How would you like some one to tie a tin can on your tail, Jingle?" he asked Uncle Wiggily as he took the one off Jackie. "Do you think that was a kind thing to do?"

"I only did it for fun," laughed Jingle. "And anyhow, my tail is so short that nobody could tie a tin can to it, which was true enough."

But Uncle Wiggily looked at Jingle's tin can, long extra, and he did Jackie and Uncle Wiggily winked one eye at Jackie and Jackie winked one eye at the bunny gentleman.

And that afternoon, when Jingle was asleep, all of a sudden some one shouted "Boo!" Up she jumped so quickly that she pulled down from a shelf over her head a tin can of water. There was a string on the can, and the other end of the string was tied to Jingle's ear. The water from the tin can splashed on Jingle and some splashed on Jangle. And when the little rabbit girls looked at the tin can, Jangle cried:

"Why, Jingle! It's the same can you tied on Jackie's tail for a joke!"

"Nonsense, Jangle," she whispered, "Jingle. And off in the bushes sounded some laughter just as if an old rabbit gentleman and a doggie boy were hiding there. I wonder if they were! I wonder—

Anyhow, if the dining-room table doesn't wobble, the legs and try to walk on the back fence like a pussy cat, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the dishes.

TO SING HERE DURING COMING SEASON

The distinguished American soprano, will give a recital in Victoria during the Fall, she being one of the three artists engaged by the Ladies' Musical Club for their attractive series of professional concerts.

Miss Case has in her repertoire over 500 songs, exclusive of operatic arias, which would give an idea of the enormous work required of a musician of her standing. She has always been noted for her varied programmes and is indefatigable in searching out new material.

One of her principal reasons for going to Europe during the past Summer, aside from her successful debut recital at Queen's Hall, London, was to secure personally new manuscript material for use on the programmes of her extensive tours this season. Miss Case sings in English, French, Italian, German and Scandinavian, being noted for the clarity of her diction in all these tongues. In arranging a programme she rarely groups songs in chronological order or according to the nationality of the songs. She has always tried rather to build a musical mood, to bring out what might be called the harmonious contrast with light and shade in each group.

BRIDE'S WEDDING GIFT TO HOSPITAL

London Girl as Thank-offering For Recovery Donates Three-penny Pieces

London, July 13.—Three months ago a girl was admitted to a hospital in the East End of London, suffering from neglected appendicitis which had developed into peritonitis.

After the operation, when her condition was critical, there came a telephonic inquiry every hour from her sweetheart, and at night when he finished his work he would stay within the precincts of the hospital. He begged not to be taken to her bedside as he "couldn't bear to see her suffer."

The girl made a wonderful recovery and was married last week. The bridegroom's gift to the bride consisted of 200 three-penny pieces. She has sent these to the hospital as a thank-offering for her recovery.

Mr. Prescott W. Scott, of Burlington, was at a dinner given at the private dining-room of the Union Club. Neary's orchestra supplied a delightful programme of popular music.

Among the invited guests were: Mr. and Mrs. C. Hulsecum of Seattle, Mrs. Outhout, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Wilgore, Mrs. Dillon-Coste, Mr. and Mrs. Mackin, Miss Maude Monteth, Miss Peggy McBride, Miss G. Coste, Mr. Val May, Mr. Watts-Jones, Mr. Carewe Martin, Maj. Lyons.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Lewis entertained at their home at Cadboro Bay last evening with a dance for their friends.

Among the many guests were the Misses Dola Dunsmuir, Beryl Nelson, Maude Crease, Patricia Heming, Janet Lang, Dorothy Crump, Fraser, Kitty Campbell, Marjorie Stirling, Marcia Parer, Doreen Ashburnham, Nora Lewis, Neva Stewart, Kathleen Wright, Kathleen Ross, Betty and Peggy Schofield, Lucy Bryden, Mary Honey, Louise Campbell, and the Messrs. Van der Byl, R. Randall and Tony Farrer.

On Saturday evening at "Breadalbane," 1185 Fort Street, a pretty wedding took place in the presence of an assembly of friends of the principals, when Major J. Campbell, D.D., officiated at a ceremony which made Miss Lucy Medley the bride of Mr. Walter Douglas, of Victoria.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Frederick Medley, was lovely in a dark-blue tricot gown, trimmed with white lace, and carried a bouquet of pink bridal roses and maidenhair fern. Miss Esther Medley, the bride's sister, was in a smart rock of crepe de Chine, with hat to match. The flower girl was the pretty little Miss Peggy Medley, the bride's niece, and the bridesmaid, Miss Ward, a charming little lad, was page. Mrs. Knight, becomingly gowned, was matron of honor. THOUSANDS OF CITIZENS WITNESS DEDICATION OF STRIKING WAR MEMORIAL

The proceedings opened with "O Canada," announced by the Rev. T. M. Hughes. The second and third verses were specially written for the occasion and paid tribute to the sons who died for her. Then came the Scripture reading by Capt. the Rev. J. Hinchliffe, from the forty-fourth Chapter of the Book of Ecclesiastes ending with the words, "And their name shall live for evermore." Capt. the Rev. F. C. Chapman announced the hymn, "O God Our Help in Ages Past." In staccato tones the military band rang out, "Reverend Arms." The Lieutenant-Governor pulled the cord releasing the flags, and they fell apart revealing the masterpiece, which is Victoria's war memorial.

The prayer of dedication by Major the Rev. W. Barton was followed by the singing of the fine old hymn, "Unto the Hills Do I Lift Up My Longing Eyes," announced by Capt. the Rev. W. Carroll.

LIEUT.-GOVERNOR'S ADDRESS
The Lieutenant-Governor in his address said:

"Friends:
"We have come together to-day at this beautiful spot for the unveiling of the wonderful statue which Mr. March, with the far vision of genius, saw sleeping in a mass of insensate clay and uncovered with deft and reverent hands to become your war memorial. This triumphant work of art, a classic for the ages, is now revealed to you in its rugged vitality and force. You can and will see for yourselves, on studying the statue, the extraordinarily mingled impression of the genius of the sculptor has managed to create an impression of divine inspiration and at the same time one of stern, ruthless warning. There is combined with this sense of inspiration, this call to an Empire's manhood to be ready for war when danger threatens, a warning of the inevitable horrors in store for us should war occur. I know of no other sculpture—bronze or pallid marble in the world which conveys in its fine simplicity such a remarkable effect. In this respect it stands alone.

"He died the bravest death a man can—
Fighting for God and Right and Liberty
And such a death is immortality."

"We have not only gathered to unveil this memorial," he continued, "but to do so in the presence of the gallant deeds of these men in a memorial which will not only remind the present but all future generations of those who responded in heroic sacrifice to the call of duty in the cause of justice."

THE FIRST CONTINGENT
"In the Spring of 1914, beyond a permanent force of about 3,000 men for garrison duty, Canada had no army. While Britain was sounding the first call to arms the Canadian army had come into being; volunteers were being enrolled, and August 5 may be regarded as the natal day of the Canadian army."

"Canada's sons from coast to coast in a peace-loving country swarmed to the colors. From the farms and rivers of Ontario and the eastern provinces, the homesteads of the prairies, the mines and the forests of British Columbia and even from the lure of gold in the Yukon did these men rally to the cause of right and liberty.

Within three weeks 35,000 men were marshaled on Vancouver plain and within six weeks a fully organized Canadian division was ready to proceed overseas, the largest army which has ever crossed the Atlantic at one time, and containing very few men with any previous experience of war.

"It is recorded that the Dominion of Canada raised for services overseas more than half a million men, of whom about eighty per cent were of the fighting force. The first division, along with the Princess Patricia's Light Infantry, having gone forward, they were in turn followed by the second, third and fourth divisions, and by August, 1916, the entire Canadian corps of four divisions, the largest in the Allied forces in the field and taking part in that great adventure of the Somme."

FAMOUS BATTLES
"In 1915 the first division greatly distinguished itself in the Second Battle of Ypres, on April 22, and again at Passchendaele and Givenchy, in May and June," continued His Honor. "In 1916 the Canadians, now forming three divisions, were very heavily engaged at St. Eloi in April, and at Somme Wood and at Hooge in June. In September, October and November the four Canadian divisions fought in the Battle of the Somme, especially distinguishing themselves at Courcy-lez-Loos, Mouquet Farm, and the Kemmel, Regina and Desire Trenches.

"In 1917 the Canadian troops bore the largest part in the taking of Vimy Ridge (April 9) and of Arras and Fresnoy (April 23 and May 2), and fought with great success in the advance on Lens and the taking of Hill 70 in August. They were again heavily engaged in the fighting round Passchendaele in October and November, capturing all their objectives in spite of severe losses.

"In 1918 the Canadian cavalry, motor machine guns and railway troops were active in the resistance to the German advance in March. The Canadian corps was in the centre of the British front in the Second Battle of Amiens, August 8-11, advancing 14,000 yards on the first day, the deepest advance made in one day during the war. In the Battle of Arras, at the beginning of September, the Canadians played an important part in the breaking of the Oostend-Drocourt line, a part of the Hindenburg system. The Canadian casualties in these two actions were serious, but less than the number of prisoners taken.

"The Battle of Cambrai began on September 27 and on October 9 the Canadians, after heavy losses, took Cambrai and made large captures of guns and material in the final stages of the fighting. Denain was taken by the Canadians on October 20, Ypres on November 2, and Mons at 4 a.m. on November 11, the day on which the armistice came into force at 11 a.m.

"The Canadian troops captured 45,000 prisoners, 850 artillery guns and 4,200 machine guns, retook 130 towns and villages and liberated 150,000 French and Belgian civilians."

B.C.'S HEROIC PART
"In the continuous activities of the war British Columbians took and maintained a conspicuous and heroic part," said the Lieutenant-Governor. "The homes and institutions of this Province were depleted of their vigorous manhood and it was a British Columbian, General Sir Arthur Currie, who led the Canadian forces with rare strategy and skill. There is no British Columbia with the sound of my voice whose heart is not still saddened by the memory of beloved relatives or friends who kept their last long sleep in far off fields where poppies blow in the springtime around the simple crosses which mark their last resting place, and they have left a last clarion call to their living comrades and to the world:

"If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep, though poppies blow
In Flanders fields,"

ORDEALS OF WAR
"Almost from the beginning ordeals had to be overcome by our men which would have daunted the most seasoned troops and driven them back by the terrific onslaught. Overwhelmed in numbers on front and flank they held their own in a conflict which raged for days.

"Terrible weapons of war were introduced. Waves of poison gas swamped our lines, leaving torture and death in their wake.

"Both pen and brush have been freely used in giving to the world the story of the valor and the heroism of these troops which barred the way against that onrush of Germans and thus saved the day for Britain and her Allies.

A PRAYER FOR PEACE
"The horrors of that campaign are still fresh in our minds and hearts. Tears are still shed for our generous dead. We are shedding them to-day. Let us not forget that it is to their memory, still watered by the tears of affectionate remembrance, that this splendid monument, one of the simplest in form and yet one of the most impressive in the world, has been raised. It is fitting that this monument, to commemorate the glorious deeds of British Columbia soldiers who made the supreme sacrifice for liberty and civilization, should stand as a permanent resting place on the spacious and beautiful lawns of the Legislative Assembly Buildings in the capital city of the Province.

"Let us leave these grounds to-day with the hope and prayer that there shall be no more war. Give peace in our time, O Lord. Years have passed, are passing, but the cost of conflict still lies before us. The nations are burdened with debts which are condensed drops of human blood. They have still to be paid. But war can never be banished by the mere passage of time. We must change our common human nature if we are to achieve that Justice and love must rule, not hatred and jealousy.

"Only when Christian nations become nations of Christians will the war drums cease to sound.

"A last word. One permanent good has sprung from the conflict. It is the feeling of comradeship and affection of the Canadian corps with the British Expeditionary Forces can never be forgotten. They have a lasting place in the common history of the British Empire together and make it still the greatest agency for human good that history has known."

"LAST POST" AND "REVEILLE"
At the conclusion of his stirring address, the Lieutenant-Governor laid a beautiful wreath on the plinth, and Capt. the Rev. A. L. Nixon announced the two minutes of silence as a tribute to the fallen. The huge crowd stood with bent heads until the clear notes of a bugle rent the stillness and the Last Post rang out its message.

The prayer of remembrance by Capt. the Rev. A. A. Bishlager and the pronouncement of the Benediction by Major the Rev. Dr. Campbell was followed by the stirring bugle call of the Reveille, and the singing of the National Anthem, concluding the formal programme.

Throughout the programme the band of the Fifth Regiment C.G.A. accompanied the singing, which was led by the Army Club.

At the last notes of the anthem died away, the relatives of the heroes who paid the supreme sacrifice passed around the memorial to lay their floral tributes on the plinth, followed by the representatives of the various organizations. Among the many beautiful tributes were those from the Government of British Columbia, the City of Victoria, the Fifth Regiment, the Boy Scouts, the Provincial and Municipal I.O.G.E., the Women's Canadian Club, Kumtuka Club, Ladies' Auxiliary of the G.W.V.A., Army and Navy Veterans, Canadian Legion and many others.

MIRROR CAUSED FIRE

TWO CRUISE WRECKED BY FIRE SUNDAY

Tug Quinnet, Vancouver, is Total Loss; Crew Saved Shipwreck and Fire Strike Seattle Owner of Yacht Norma

Vancouver, July 13.—Capt. Griesen-waite of the tug Quinnet, and his crew of one barely escaped with their lives when that vessel caught fire at the mouth of Howe Sound Sunday night.

The burning craft was sighted first by the ferry boat Sanna, which stood by while the two men lowered a row-boat and made for her side when they were taken aboard. The tug is a total loss according to Capt. Griesenwaite.

COOK BADLY BURNED

San Francisco, July 12.—Advice here Sunday night stated that the yacht Norma was destroyed by fire earlier in the day at Francisco Cove, 160 miles north of San Francisco. Adolph Saucedo, a cook, was badly burned. The yacht went on the rocks a week ago. She was pulled off the rocks under temporary repairs were under way when the stove in the galley overturned. The Norma was owned by D. E. Skinner, Seattle shipbuilder.

Forty-two Failures Reported in Canada During Last Week

Toronto, July 13.—Forty-two commercial failures were reported throughout Canada and Newfoundland during the week ended Saturday, against forty-nine for the same week last year, according to Dun's report issued Saturday. Fourteen of this week's failures were in Quebec province, thirteen in Ontario and New- foundland.

Increased British Exports in Rubber Not Affecting U.S.

New York, July 13 (By the Associated Press).—J. Frank Dunbar Jr., vice-president of J. Frank Dunbar Company Inc., crude rubber dealer, said last night the increase in British crude rubber exports on July 1 will probably have little immediate effect on the rubber situation here, although the tendency will be to make conditions easier eventually.

The increase in exports from sixty-five to seventy-five per cent of the production of British colonial rubber plantations will provide this country with 19,000 tons in August instead of 16,000 tons.

Necessary Amount Raised to Restart Banking Company

New York, July 13.—The $2,500,000 required for the reorganization of Dun Onativa and Company, merged here of the New York stock exchange with liabilities of $36,000,000, has been raised, counsel for the firm announced Saturday night, adding that its business operations would be resumed in a few days. Application has been made for reinstatement by the exchange.

Resumption of business has been possible only through the hearty co-operation of every one concerned, said William F. Unger, one of the firm's customers and friends of the firm have responded in a manner never before heard of.

JUDGE ASKED TO END SCOPE TRIAL

ected by the defence on which to base the motion. The contentions were nearly all related to the constitutionality of the act, claiming both the constitution of Tennessee and that of the United States were violated in the act of the Tennessee General Assembly.

LACK OF INFORMATION

Mr. Neal called the attention of the court to the lack of information as to the power of the court to rule on the constitution. He said many other well-informed lawyers did not know the court had this authority and was sworn to uphold it as an officer of the state.

NOT "BILL" NOW

When the jury roll was called, William G. Day filed objection to his name being carried as "Bill." This was corrected.

The Attorney-General announced he wished to question one of the jurors and the other eleven retired while R. L. Gentry was interrogated.

The defence objected to the interrogation, but the judge overruled the objection.

Attorney-General Stewart announced he had been informed the juror concerned had expressed an opinion as to the guilt or innocence of the defendant. This Gentry denied and said that he was unbiased, and unprejudiced and had an open mind.

He was permitted to remain on the jury.

JUROR WAS LATE

Another delay was caused by one juror falling behind, but he came in five minutes later.

Then the indictment was read. The defence then moved to quash the indictment.

MacMILLAN SHIP IS RETURNING TO LABRADOR PORT

Halifax, July 13.—The Mac-Millan exploration ship Bowdoin is returning to Hopedale, Labrador, to be beached while a spare propeller is attached, while the ship, with Commander Mac-Millan aboard, has proceeded to Godhavn, Greenland, according to a wireless report picked up by amateur wireless operators here last night.

REPORTS ON CROP ARE OPTIMISTIC

Winnipeg, July 13.—Optimistic crop reports continue to be received by the Canadian National Railways here, with wheat in nearly all sections of the prairie provinces in the short blade, and in some districts nearly fifty per cent headed out.

Generally speaking, all reporting stations state there has been no damage from any source and prospects of the best. With the exception of some Alberta districts, moisture is plentiful. Hay meadows are producing a big crop and pastures are in excellent condition.

JAPANESE ALPINISTS IN CANADIAN FIELD

Six Have Gone From Jasper To Big Columbia Ice Area

Jasper Park Lodge, July 13.—Six well-known alpinists from Japan have left Jasper on a twenty-five day mountain climb and scientific survey expedition into the Columbia icefield, one of the least known portions of the Canadian Rocky Mountains. The expedition is headed by Yukio Maki, under-secretary of the Japanese Alpine Club, the largest mountain climbing organization in the world. The party is to penetrate to the head of waters of the Athabasca and North Saskatchewan Rivers. An endeavor will be made to climb Mount Asgard, a virgin peak which has defied the efforts of several of the world's greatest alpinists.

The expedition was organized by the Japanese Alpine Club and has as its purpose the development of new fields of activity for the members of that huge organization, which has expanded to all the possibilities of Japan. Members of the party state that if the territory proves itself worthy of exploration it will attract hundreds of Japanese alpinists to Canada annually.

It is interesting to note these are the first Japanese to mount a climb in Canada. Three Swiss guides from Jasper Park Lodge, Heinrich Fuhrer, Hans Kohler and Jean Weber, are assisting the party, and are guides and forty horses for the outfit of Fred Brewster of Jasper are being used on the trip. The expedition is elaborately equipped. In addition to scientific instruments, the men have still and motion picture cameras and a complete dark room to do their developing and printing of photographs in the field.

TWO AIRMEN KILLED

Westbury, N.Y., July 13.—First Lieutenants Charles R. Hickey of Brockton, Mass., and Albert C. Perry of Westbury, Mass., were killed today when their aeroplane crashed near here.

YUM! YUM!

"Don't you wish you were a kid again? Billy Farren, fourteen, claims the pie-eating championship of the country. Billy claims that he can gobble a whole pie while we are taking the second mouthful. Huckleberry is his favorite."

SS. CATALAS FINE ADDITION TO UNION FLEET

Sixteen Craft Now Carry Houseflag of Union Steamship Company in B.C.

Ss. Lady Cynthia, Following, Was Designed For Mine Sweeper

Built at the Coast Construction Company's yard at Montreal, Scotland, the Ss. Catala, the fourth vessel to arrive on this coast to carry the houseflag of the Union Steamship Company of B.C., made William Head Quarantine Station at 1 a.m. yesterday and passed up to Vancouver without calling here.

Specially designed for the northern run to Stewart and Anxox the Ss. Catala is a fine addition to the fleet and with the Ss. Cardena gives the company two vessels of exceptional range and comfortable appointments on the northern route.

The Ss. Lady Cynthia, due to arrive on this coast from British yards about the middle of August, is also a new craft. Though adapted as a mine sweeper during the war she was not put into commission. Now she has been specially fitted for her work with the Union Steamship Company, that of taking part in the day run out of Vancouver.

Within recent years the company has added the Lady Evelyn, the Lady Cecilia, the Lady Alexandra (specially constructed excursion craft) which in addition to the two vessels now making port bring the total of new craft to the fleet up to five. Sixteen boats fly the houseflag of the Union Steamship Company now, including one motorship, the Ms. Comox which plies to Pender Harbor and Jarvis Inlet.

ROUGH PATCH LET WATER IN SO CREW PUMPED WAY HOME

Providence, R.I., July 13.—A patchwork carpenter job, done on the hull of the schooner Yukon before she left the Cape Verde Island early in June, failed to prevent leakage, and for 34 days the crew was kept at the pumps, according to stories told when the schooner docked here Saturday. There was one man among the 32 immigrant passengers. The schooner was built and launched as a Grand Banks fisherman in 1917.

MAN KILLED BY STEAMER EXPLOSION

Nelson, July 13.—One man lost his life and two were injured as the result of an explosion on board the C.P.R. steamer Kuskokwam at Kaslo this morning.

The man killed, named Parker, was a deckhand and belonged to Nelson.

MODERN PRAIRIE SCHOONER COMING

H. J. Hopper With Powerful Pierce Arrow Caravan on Way Here

Word was received by the Chamber of Commerce here to-day that H. J. Hopper, wanderer and sportsman, with his great Pierce Arrow home-stead will arrive in Victoria this afternoon. Mr. Hopper and his great house on wheels is one of Vancouver Island's greatest friends. He was on his way to the coast with the same big motor car. And he was so greatly impressed with the country that he took a great volume of publicity photographs during the trip. The length and breadth of the parts of the United States to which he returned and through which he passed. The result was of great value to the island.

Chamber of Commerce officials said to-day that they would welcome Mr. Hopper back to Victoria again. He will probably spend some time at the Curtis Point Automobile Camp and will then go up the Island Highway for some fishing in the many little streams where the trout rise or in the rivers and bays where the salmon snatch greedily at the spinning spoon.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Earl Haig's speech will be broadcast from station CFCB from the Royal Victoria Theatre to-night at 6.25 p.m.

A bush fire near St. Ann's Academy, Beacon Hill, caused some anxiety until the fire department put an end to the flames. The fire did no damage.

Vladimir Rosing, the famous Russian tenor, will be the guest of the Kiwanis Club at to-morrow's luncheon at the Chamber of Commerce, and will give an address.

In the premises of the Standard Laundry, View Street, a small fire broke out Saturday afternoon in the fuel bins which was effectively smothered by the prompt action of firemen.

Three persons appeared this morning in the city police court on a charge of vagrancy, and were remanded for hearing until to-morrow to give the authorities an opportunity of looking into the cases. All three are lodged in the jail awaiting the morning session of the court before Magistrate George Jay.

Col. F. A. Clark, D.S.O., representative to the British Empire Service League and Grand Commander of the Canadian Legion, will address the members of the local post at their club rooms, 1406 Douglas Street, to-night at 9.30 p.m. All members are requested to be present. This meeting follows the mass meeting at the Royal Victoria Theatre.

The Saanich Fruitgrowers' Association this year received exactly $1 more per crate for strawberries than was obtained last year, the average price received for all sales being $2.08 per crate, as compared with $2.08 last year. The shipments to the prairie totaled 14,530 crates in sixteen days. The shipments made in 1924, when thirty-one cars were dispatched. Prairie shipments earned a better price than Victoria sales, the net returns from this export market being $2.12 per crate, indicating a substantial preference to local consumers.

The Royal Society of St. George will hold a garden fete at the Precincts Grounds, Burdette and Quadra Streets, Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Walter C. Nichol, wife of the Lieutenant-Governor, has graciously consented to be present, and will open the fete at 3 o'clock. Various stalls will be arranged by the ladies, including a home-cooking, ice cream and candy stall. The pupils of Mrs. B. G. Ruddock will give dances during the afternoon, and there will be a Punch and Judy show for the entertainment of children. Afternoon tea will be served, until the evening, to take care of business people. It is expected the Moose Band will be in attendance.

B.C. AND ALBERTA CONFERENCE TO-DAY

Edmonton, July 12.—Herald as a meeting which will go far in the development of trade between Alberta and British Columbia, mayors and aldermen of the principal cities of the two provinces, as well as representatives of Saskatchewan, gathered here to-day for a one-day session, at which questions of importance to the West will be thoroughly discussed.

The chairman of the conference is Harry Gale, former Mayor of Vancouver, who was elected to the opening meeting on the motion of Mayor L. D. Taylor of Vancouver.

The gathering was called to order by Alderman J. M. Douglas, who called upon Mayor Blatchford to explain its object.

The mayor said the conference had been summoned at the suggestion of a number of the delegates who were now in attendance. This was a great thing, he said, and there was room for unlimited development. The fact that the delegates had paid their own way, and were not traveling at government expense, proved there was something behind the movement. The opening day was merely a get-together, he said, when the delegates would meet and make their arrangements for the discussion of questions which would start on Tuesday.

MAYORS INVITED

Vancouver, July 12.—Mayor Pendray of Victoria and Mayor Harrison of Nanaimo were forwarded special invitations to-day by the British Columbia Association of Mayors to be present at the civic dinner in honor of Earl Haig on Wednesday here.

BAIL EFFORTS FAIL

Vancouver, July 12.—O. R. Robinson, police detective, and William Robinson, his son, who have been committed for trial in connection with the kidnapping of Wong Foon Siao, Chinese house boy, were still in custody to-day, despite strenuous efforts on the part of their friends and counsel to secure their liberty on bail over the week-end.

OBITUARY

The death took place yesterday evening at the family residence, 1269 Pembroke Street, of Alfred Charles Weatherill, one of the old-time residents of this city. He was 84 years of age. He leaves besides his parents three sisters. The remains are resting at the Sands Funeral Chapel, and the funeral will be announced later.

The funeral of the late Samuel Jones, who died at St. Joseph's Hospital last Wednesday, took place Friday afternoon, the cortege leaving the Sands Funeral Chapel at 2 o'clock, and thirty minutes later, services were conducted at the Wilkinson Road Union Church by the Rev. Mr. Hardy and the Rev. Mr. Frank. Relatives and a large gathering of friends were in attendance, and the floral tributes were many and beautiful. The hymns sung were "Rock of Ages," "Jesus, I Have Promised," "Peace, Perfect Peace." Mrs. C. H. Williams sang the solo "Grace is Sufficient for Me." The following acted as pallbearers: David Leighman, W. Allison, J. W. Pimlock, W. D. Kinnard, H. S. Pringle and Robert Little. The remains were laid to rest in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

FIELD MARSHAL'S PLAN IS COMPLETE VICTORY OF ALL BRITISH VETERANS

Canada, Says Earl Haig, Should Have One Great Body From Halifax to Victoria; Empire-wide Merger of Veterans is Aim of British Empire League.

Despite a programme packed with official engagements Field Marshal Earl Haig, supreme leader of the British forces in the closing years of the European war, devoted over an hour of his time this morning to a representative group of officers of twelve returned soldier organizations of Vancouver Island.

His unaffected bearing and direct soldierly speech created a vast impression on his audience as Earl Haig pleaded for the union of all ex-service units in Canada in a non-political, non-sectarian movement for the welfare of the widows and dependents of those who fell in the great war.

CHEERS

At the close of a round-table discussion of an hour and a quarter, the famous Field Marshal adjourned the meeting, which he had taken the chair and directed in person. Three cheers, a "tiger," a "cougar" and a "cougar's cub" rang in his ears as he was escorted by the party. Earl Haig left to return to Government House, with twenty minutes to spare before the Canadian Club function.

Col. Cyrus Peck, V.C., Col. F. A. Robertson, Col. L. Ross, Col. W. Latta, Capt. P. James, Beaumont Boggs, Reeve Macneil, Joshua Hinchliffe, M.P.P., C. F. L. Money, J. B. Clearhiser, George Gardner, C. A. S. Showmen, H. Peachey, Davey W. J. Edwards, H. P. Thorpe, G. S. Atkinson, W. G. Stone, G. H. Sedger, W. Brooker, T. Brown, C. Tennant, A. Murdoch, J. McKenna, J. Taylor, F. A. Stork, C. Keane, R. Smith, T. A. Barnard, A. Murdoch, J. Blair, D. R. Bell, C. G. Callen, H. Pelle and others, delegates to the conference, were representative of Victoria and Island returned veterans' units from as far north as Nanaimo and Ladysmith.

On his arrival the Field Marshal took occasion to have each man presented to him, and shook each warmly by the hand. He thanked up-Island delegates for the trouble they had gone to be present. In Earl Haig's party were Brig. Gen. Home, treasurer of the British Empire League; Gen. A. Blair, private secretary of the Field Marshal; Capt. Donald Simpson, secretary of the British Empire League; and J. R. Griffin, conference secretary of the Canadian tour.

SAME AIMS AND IDEALS

"I cannot tell you what a satisfaction it is to meet the representatives of all these organizations," said Earl Haig in opening the meeting. "Each of these organizations has the same aims, the same ideals, and there is no real difference between them. I cherish the spirit of comradeship kindled in the war."

"We all aim at doing the best we can for our ex-service comrades, and something more—helping our nation and keeping up the ideals of the British Empire. In view of this it is extraordinary that we are not all united in one organization. The British Empire League is a confederation of British Empire organizations designed to this end. My present object is to get all ex-service organizations in Canada to form one great organization. I do not care what you do as long as you are united."

SOURCE OF STRENGTH

"I am a colonel of the 17th Lancers. These troops were sent to the front in 1914. There is no doubt that comrades annual dinner and reunion. It is affiliated with the British Empire League, and is a unit of that league while preserving its own associations. This committee would be a great source of strength in the country."

At this stage J. R. Griffin, conference secretary, was called on to outline the details of the proposals now offered to Canadian veterans by the distinguished British officer.

These proposals, said Mr. Griffin, included a ground work of preliminary organization in which a Dominion Committee of Unity would be picked with representatives from each province. This committee would be instructed to call a general convention, national wide, at which the suggestion that all returned veterans organizations in Canada merge into one great body that body would have the right to make laws, and would be a non-sectarian. There would be no need to sacrifice local social features and club privileges, but experience in the United Kingdom had shown that in a very short time that all clubs dropped their own names and operated solely as a branch of the League.

Great Britain now has 4,000 branches of the League operating in harmony, and the councils of the British Empire League are sought in government circles on pension and other matters. It was stated, the greatest power open to the returned man lay in the education of the general public, and the League would lay forward in a reasonable and commonsense manner. Threats of "big stick" would only militate against the League's aims, whereas when people saw the justice of the claims advanced action would follow in due season, concluded Mr. Griffin.

WELDED TOGETHER

Through the Empire-wide ramifications of the League a huge body of public opinion would be welded together to cherish the spirit of comradeship created in the late war, and in itself would be a strong supporting arm for the growth and continued prosperity of the British Commonwealth of Nations, stated Earl Haig in showing the meeting open discussion.

Col. Cyrus Peck, V.C., spoke on behalf of the delegates present. He belonged to no less than five organizations, he said, and was heartily behind the project of a merger of Canadian units into the British Empire League. To Victoria he belonged by credit of founding the first returned veterans' unit, and also of seeking first to try the amalgamation of the returned men in this country, though nothing had come of it then.

TO INCLUDE ALL

"We must admit that in separate organizations we have not yet anywhere," stated Col. Peck. "We who join one great organization such as this, if any one could come back unimpaired, ask nothing. But we do ask favorable treatment for the war-crippled, the widows and dependents. We must be frank enough to say that the great body of returned men in Canada do not belong to any organization. Personally I feel they would join one great organization such as this now proposed. You can do anything when you are in earnest; and though sacrifices must inevitably be made, the organization can be made flexible enough to suit all," he concluded.

GYROS INSPIRED BY THEIR BRIEF VISIT TO WONDER ISLAND

Visitors From East, North and South Thoroughly Enjoyed Trip to Victoria

Danced at Empress, Visited Butchart's and Ate Lunch at Cordova Bay

To the tune of "Cheerio, Old Top," played by the Sixteenth Canadian Scottish band and sung lustily by members of the local Gyro Club and their friends, 500 delegates to the international Gyro convention were welcomed to Victoria on Saturday afternoon. The party arrived from Vancouver on the Princess Victoria chartered for the trip.

After a day spent in the Capital the delegates left on the Princess Victoria yesterday afternoon, and once again the strains of "Cheerio, Old Top," the Gyro international song, floated over the waters of the harbor. The convention year was split between Vancouver and Victoria and in order that the visitors might see as much as possible of the beauties of the Gulf of Georgia, a steamer was secured to take them on a long cruise. On Saturday morning the Princess Victoria left Vancouver at 10 o'clock and made the trip through Port Moody and then entered Saanich Inlet, arriving here at 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

"CHEERIO GYROS"

Twelve little girls, each carrying a Japanese parasol, were placed on the end of the Canadian Pacific Railway dock and when the boat approached, the parasols were opened, spelling out "Cheerio, Gyros."

The delegates, hailing from as far east as New York, as far north as Edmonton and as far south as Denver, were warmly welcomed by the Victoria Gyros. They were immediately taken to the steps of the Parliament Buildings, where an official photograph was taken. The visitors were then shown around the city.

At 9 o'clock a dance was held at the Empress Hotel, and a most enjoyable function. Dancing continued until midnight.

Yesterday morning the visitors were taken by motor car to Butchart's Garden where they marvelled at the beauty of the flowers and enormity of the gardens. From the gardens the party motored to Little Cordova Bay, where luncheon was served under the trees.

At 3 o'clock the Princess Victoria pulled out on the return trip to Vancouver, where the convention is holding its closing session to-day.

The visitors were greatly affected with their stay in Victoria.

LIKE THE CITY

International President Rowe Holland was loud in his praise of the Victoria entertainment. "You certainly sold Victoria to the party," he said. "We have had a wonderful time, like the city, its beauty and its people."

Ed. Kagy of Cleveland, international secretary, said: "I often heard a lot about the West but I've had my eyes opened. Victoria is one of the prettiest places I have ever seen. We were in your city just twenty-four hours but we were shown more things than I believe any other town in the world could present for our inspection. You folks in the West are wonders. Many more people from the East, see your wonderful city."

ALD. DEWAR SEES SUCCESS AWAITING CITY AUCTION SALE

Confident Employment of Austin Co. Will be Vindicated

"It is solely for the benefit of the citizens as a whole that the Lands Committee advises the City Council to employ Charles S. Austin as auctioneer at the forthcoming trial sale of city owned properties," declared Alderman Robert Dewar this morning at the City Hall.

"Mr. Austin provided the committee with ample proof of his unusual qualifications for the task in hand, producing documents from all parts of the continent, including Winnipeg and Quebec, testifying to the excellent results obtained by auction sales under his direction. Mr. Austin also convinced us of the close connection he has built up with reputable real estate firms in a great many cities of North America, and the probability that many of these firms will take an active part in developing an active demand for Victoria properties listed for the sale," he said.

SUPPORTED BY MAYOR

Alderman Dewar was supported in his views by Mayor Carl Pendray, who expressed pleasure that the Lands Committee had decided to employ Mr. Austin, despite the probability of an outbreak of criticism. It would certainly have been easier for the committee to have retained a local auctioneer, but I do not think the results would have been as good when the sale is concluded," Mr. Austin is a specialist in this work and does nothing else, having a wide organization to support his sales methods," he said.

LONG CONSIDERED

Alderman Dewar pointed out that the proposal to hold an auction sale of city lands was first mooted over four years ago, prior to his becoming a member of the Lands Committee in 1922, while the first suggestion to employ Mr. Austin was made over one year ago, by members of the Victoria Real Estate Exchange.

CALIFORNIA CLUB CO-OPERATES TO BRING TOURISTS

Widespread Advertisement is Promised Through Medium of Maps

C. R. Salisbury, manager of the Outing Bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California, with headquarters in Los Angeles, is now on his way to Vancouver Island, where he will make a lengthy stay gathering information relative to the fishing, hunting and camping attractions which are to be found in this country in order to prepare for the issuance of a new sports map, which, it is anticipated, will bring many thousands of tourists north.

"Thousands of these maps will be printed and distributed to inquirers coming in from all parts of the United States to Los Angeles who are contemplating going north for either fishing or shooting and there is no doubt but that the club will be able to send you through Mr. Salisbury's department, thousands of sportsmen in the future," reads a communication from the south which was received by the Victoria Chamber of Commerce to-day.

Mr. Salisbury is attempting to get a permit so that he can bring his rods and guns into and through British Columbia without delay and questioning.

Ernest Gaffery, one of the officials of the Automobile Club of Southern California, writes: "I did a great deal of shooting and fishing while I was in Victoria a short time ago and I know that there are thousands of sportsmen here and elsewhere in the United States who would be glad to enjoy some of the splendid angling and shooting to be had in British Columbia if they were informed of the facts concerning it." Mr. Gaffery urges that Mr. Salisbury be given every assistance in the gathering of material which he requires for his map.

The Victoria Chamber of Commerce and the Publicity Bureau will give him every co-operation.

FAMED BROADWAY COMEDIAN WITH COLLEEN MOORE IN NATIONAL PICTURE "SALLY"

Leon Errol, long famed as a Broadway comedian, has finally joined Hollywood's ranks and now blossoms forth as a full-fledged movie actor in Colleen Moore's new first National picture, "Sally."

Errol was engaged to portray the same character, the Duke of Chequer-govina, which he played in the musical comedy version of "Sally" produced by Florenz Ziegfeld. The picture is now showing at the Capitol Theatre. While the comedian forsook Broadway for the filming of the movie, he announced he had no intention of leaving the stage permanently. On the contrary, he returned to New York immediately the picture was completed and resumed his work with Ziegfeld.

Errol was born in Sydney, Australia, and started life with the idea of becoming a surgeon. He attended the University of Sydney School of Medicine and Surgery, but his natural instincts for "cutting up" and clowning predominated. He didn't make much progress in his studies and a quarrel with a professor decided him to change his vocation and follow the stage.

He began in Australia, playing small parts in vaudeville. Then he went to San Francisco, where more vaudeville engagements followed. One of his first was in a small house then owned by Sid Grauman. Soon afterward Errol went to New York, and from vaudeville graduated into musical comedy. Most of his recent roles have been in productions of Ziegfeld. He also has a hand in the staging of Ziegfeld shows.

Errol created the role of the Duke of Chequer-govina in the stage version of "Sally" and played it throughout the long run on Broadway, as well as on the road. Among his hobbies are aviation and swimming. During his youthful days in Australia, Errol participated in many aquatic contests and is the holder of numerous swimming and diving records. He is also a golf devotee and is fond of dogs and horses.

Operatic Baritone is Spotlight Man in
"One Year to Live"

Burst Into Song and Actors
Stopped Work to Hear Him

The spotlights that shine on the stars of "One Year to Live," the latest First National film produced by M. C. Levee, were played on them by an operatic baritone.

He is Frank Stever, of St. Joseph, Mo., who came to California and secured a job as studio electrician in order to earn money with which to pursue his studies.

Stever was silent and inconspicuous until the studio orchestra, played until the opera of "Romeo and Juliet" for the love scenes between Alleen Pringle and Antonio Moreno. Then, high up in the rafters with his huge spotlight, he could resist it no longer. He let loose the vocal end of the dramatic aria that was being played.

Action stopped instantly. No one wanted to do a thing until Stever had finished singing. So vociferously did the members of the company applaud that Stever was obliged to sing a few encores. Thereafter he was given an assistant to tend to the spotlight and was kept singing his whole repertoire.

Stever's voice is said by Reinhold Werrenrath to have the mellowness of De Luca's and the dramatic sonority of Scott's. Next year Stever plans to have enough money

Authentic Picture of U.S. Revolution at Columbia Theatre

Series of Dramatic Thrills.
Magnificent and Pretensions

"Janice Meredith," Marion Davies's newest picture, which comes to the Columbia Theatre to-day, is the most pretentious picture ever made by the Cosmopolitan Corporation. It is a series of dramatic thrills with the most important events in the founding of the American Republic. It is being distributed by Metro-Goldwyn.

For magnitude, for dramatic sweep, for sheer splendor and magnificence of settings and costumes, it surpasses anything heretofore accomplished by Miss Davies. And it is American to the core. Historical authorities on the period of the American Revolution have pronounced it the most authentic picture of its kind ever produced. It is from the famous novel by Paul Leicester Ford.

Bright dialogue, tuneful melodies, pretty costumes and a romantic background have been nicely blended in the production, making it one of the outstanding successes of the decade. TWO PROFESSORS ON TRIAL IN FLORENCE

Florence, Italy, July 12.—Intense excitement was aroused here, especially in university circles, over the opening to-day of the trial of Gastano Salvemini, professor of history in the University of Florence, and Professor Ernesto Rossi, on charges of calumniating the king and government and breaking the law regulating newspapers.

It is generally believed Professor Salvemini is being tried for his general and past record of opposition to the Fascist regime.

The accusations are divided into four sections. The first deals with the implication of a breaking of the press law by publishing the newspaper Non-Mollure (Don't Weaken); the second implies offences against the king; the third charges the accused continually stated the king's responsibility for the acts of the government, and the fourth alleges continued vilification of the constitutional monarchial regime.

Professor Rossi still is at liberty and, unless he surrenders, will be tried by default.

MACKENZIE TRIP

Ottawa, July 12.—Premier Herbert Grout of Alberta will be unable, owing to pressure of business, to accompany Lord Byng on his trip down the Mackenzie River, it is announced. The Governor-General will be accompanied by Major Hodgson only.

Vladimir Rosing

By G. J. D.

Vladimir Rosing is once more returning to Victoria to give one of his remarkable songs. There are many here who will remember his first visit the more from the fact that on the evening of his appearance there occurred some peculiar and somewhat amusing circumstances owing to the then prevailing unusual weather conditions. There are those here, too, who have not had an opportunity of hearing him. To all it can be said that Rosing stands pre-eminent as an interpreter of song. He is, perhaps, the most ardent singer on to-day's concert platform. Prominent writers everywhere have hailed his interpretations as masterpieces. When he sings his whole thought is absorbed in his utterances, his closed eyes, tightly clenched hands, wonderful facial expression and his whole body, rocking and swaying in its passion, all make an unforgettable and stirring moments of such dramatic intensities that completely arouse and captivate his hearers. He has brain and talent, a rare voice, and a consummate love of his art.

RUSSIAN BORN

Rosing is Russian born, and first saw the light of day thirty-four years ago in Petrograd, where he received his early musical training under the best Russian masters. His father, a barrister of much repute, desired him to follow in his footsteps and had him trained for the Bar, but when still in his teens Rosing had already decided upon his career, and saw great possibilities in his attracting favorable and wide comment.

WON HONORS

He soon became possessor of many honors and degrees, and his services were much sought after. His opportunity came when he was twenty-one, and he accepted the offer of the Arts Opera House of Petrograd to appear in Tchaikovsky's opera, "Eugene Onegin." His success was immediate, and many engagements from late and now on were his to command. Now came about, however, the Russian revolution, and with his family he proceeded to the world's great musical Mecca, London. There he married a cultured Englishwoman, also a noted singer, and it was not long before the Rosing musical circle became notable and prominent. He was before the Rosing musical circle, a noted physician, for the purpose of developing scientifically the theories of song, interpretation, and had for a long time been wishing to perfect in London he gave several performances of "opera intime," experimenting with his theories of operatic acting and song interpretation at the air—which he is now promulgating in the opera department of the great Eastman School of Music, University of Rochester, N.Y.

One of Rosing's most striking examples in this direction is his famous "Soul of Russia," which for a time was the "rage" in London. Characteristic of his heart and mind Rosing has written: "Music more and more is becoming a language and idiom to express and portray life and emotion. I feel that music is one of the big instruments of man into a better being. My belief is that all art, not music alone, but painting, sculpture, architecture, help us to higher things, and to understand the truth of life itself."

POPULAR STARS FEATURED
THE DOMINION THIS WEEK

The Paramount picture, "Are Parents People," features Adolphe Menjou, Betty Bronson ("Peter Pan") and Florence Vidor, at the Dominion Theatre, for a six days' run starting to-day. The picture, directed by Mal St. Clair, is an adaptation of Alice Duer Miller's Saturday Evening Post serial—a domestic comedy drama that blends very effectively humor, pathos and romance, with everything in favor of the humor.

The story, because of its intensely human qualities, is an extremely powerful one. Betty, as Lita Hazlett, attends a select finishing school for girls. A telegram from her parents brings her home to find them with trunks packed—one headed for Paris, the other Reno. They have called Lita home to learn which one she is going with, but the daughter gives them something to think about by returning to school, refusing to make a choice as she loves them both.

So it is that the parents separate. At school Lita falls in love with a young doctor, in whom she confides, telling of her troubles and how much she would like to see her mother and father reconciled. Dr. Dacer, played by Lawrence Gray, Paramount's latest "find," tells her that parents are people after all—she should give them a "mutual worry." Lita has never looked at the matter in this light before and decides to give it a trial.

As it develops, this "mutual worry" comes in the form of Lita's supposed infatuation for a romantic motion picture actor. Photos and a "mash" note, really written by her roommate, are found in Lita's bureau at school. They are brought to the attention of the mother, who immediately summons the husband. But the minute the parents, who still have a deep regard for one another, get together they take to quarrelling over who is to blame for the girl's predicament. The father stalks out in a rage, and Lita's little plan goes up in smoke. She goes to Dr. Dacer for advice. He is out, and she decides to wait. Lita falls asleep; the doctor returns, passes through the waiting room without noticing the girl and retires for the night. In the morning he discovers Lita, and there's a great scene.

A night of worry has the desired effect upon the parents. They patch things up. What follows when Lita and Dacer put on an appearance makes "Are Parents People?" a picture out of the ordinary run of screen entertainment. "Are Parents People?" was adapted for the screen by Frances Agnew. Emily Fitzroy, Andre de Beranger, as the movie "sheik," Mary Beth Milford and William Courtwright complete the cast of the production. This is Betty Bronson's first screen appearance since "Peter Pan."

WOMAN IS CHARGED WITH KILLING SONS

Mrs. William Kossack in Sudbury Jail; Boys Were Six and Four Years

Sudbury, Ont., July 12.—Mrs. William Kossack, aged thirty, of Argolia, Ontario district, 254 miles northwest of Sudbury, on the Canadian National Railway, was lodged in the Sudbury district jail to-day charged with having murdered her two sons, aged six and four.

She is charged with shooting the boys through the heads with an automatic rifle. The police allege she shot them because her husband had run away with another woman who had taken her place while she was in a hospital.

A note found at the Kossack home told of the mother's action. "I shot the children because I didn't want them crying for another woman," the note stated.

Her Wonderful Teeth

Remove the dingy film that's clouding yours and you'll be surprised that your teeth are just as white and charming as any one's—make this unique test.

HERE is a simple test that proves the truth that most of us have pretty teeth without ever knowing we have, or ever realizing it.

This is the reason: Run your tongue across your teeth and you will feel a film. A film which absorbs discolorations and hides the natural color of your teeth.

Remove it and your teeth take on a new beauty. Maybe you have really beautiful teeth without realizing it.

Film is charged too with most tooth troubles. It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. Gums bleed in it. And they with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

So, besides loss of tooth beauty, film is a serious danger to healthy teeth. You must remove and constantly combat it. It is ever-present, ever forming. Old-time dentifrices were unable to combat it successfully. And tooth troubles were a serious problem.

Now modern science has discovered a new way. A new-type tooth paste called Pepsodent that acts to curdle film, then harmlessly to remove it. No soap or chalk, no harsh grit dangerous to enamel.

Mail the coupon for a 10-day tube free. Or, buy a full size tube at any drugstore to-day. See what beauty lies beneath the film on your teeth.

Thomas Hardy, Great Novelist Turns To Poetry At 85 Years

One of the few intimate portraits of Thomas Hardy reached this desk just as the eighty-fifth birthday of the greatest living novelist is being celebrated.

He is not an easy man to see. He never gives interviews. Mrs. Hardy once gave as the reason for this: "Because interviewers are usually insincere and, with a few exceptions, superficial." It has frequently been reported in book circles that those who do see him give assurance that they will not write about him, or what he has had to say.

Not that Hardy is a recluse by nature. Quite the contrary. He is very responsive to contracts, but he does not care to see those who are the average reader as author of "Tess of the D'Urbervilles" and "Far From the Madding Crowd."

ESQUIMALT HIGH SCHOOL TO MOVE

Electors Will Decide Whether or Not to Build New Premises

Temporarily, following notice that the Esquimalt High School's premises at present occupied could not be had again, the school board has come to the decision that next session will be held in the public school buildings of the municipality, at the Lamson Street School. The question of building a high school within the township will be an issue at the next municipal election, according to a recent announcement, and the public will then have the opportunity of deciding once and for all the high school problem which has faced them for a long while.

The expense of outfitting temporary high school quarters in any rented premises leads the school board to its decision of making the best of those quarters offered in the public school buildings. Several years ago the high school classes were held there. Then the sessions were moved in a newer building, apart, and for some time all has run smoothly with the school.

But with the incident notice given that they would have to vacate, the Esquimalt board has been compelled to seek rooms elsewhere. The public school will serve the purpose temporarily, it was decided at the last meeting of the board, held in the latter part of the week just passed, and after that the people can decide for themselves what is best to be done.

Thomas Hardy

Interested in him only as a great literary figure. He does care to see those who are interested in him as a person. He cannot tolerate affection and his simplicity is an outstanding characteristic.

Recently a man important in the literary world returned from London after crashing the hardest of gates and, under promise of remaining anonymous, gave the following picture of the author of "Jude, the Obscure," and "The Return of the Native," which already are listed among the world's classics and are certain of immortality.

"The moment Hardy entered the room everyone else seemed insignificant," began the informant. "Truly the really great never disappoint." He is a wonderfully vital and youthful for his years. At first he appeared very reserved. But one soon learns that this man cannot bring himself to utter a meaningless or unimportant word—a quality that may seem impossible to an American. Actually he is still as absorbed in people as a young and ambitious author.

"He combines in an amazing way, the curiosity and freshness of youth, with the calm judgment of maturity."

"Mrs. Hardy is some thirty-five years younger than her husband. It is a perfect marriage. She is attractive and understanding. Her husband fills her life and thoughts. She walks with Hardy in the garden, which they seldom leave. She reads poetry to him for hours on end. She is the critic he most respects in regard to his own poetry. It is interesting that as eighty-five the great novelist devotes himself entirely to poetry, which so many consider the instrument of youth—but such poetry as Hardy has recently given the world!"

"Among writers of poetry, Hardy is most interested in Edna St. Vincent Millay."

Hardy had many questions to ask of America. He refers to it as "that amazing place." He said he wished he might have seen it, but that day has gone.

Hardy is probably best known to

Lowe, of Cambridge,

English Runner Wins Half-mile and mile; Porritt and Lord Burghley Also Win

Cambridge, Mass., July 13.—The combined Yale and Harvard track team defeated the Oxford-Cambridge combination in an international track and field meet at Soldiers' Field, Saturday, 7 1/2 to 4 1/2. Under the English system of scoring only first places count, but in the event these are evenly divided the point system reverts back to seconds. The first teams divided first places in Saturday's meet, each winning six, but the Americans had a decided edge in the second-place victories, with their opponents in another, while the invaders could do no better than win four seconds outright.

The meet, the seventh of the international contests in which Oxford and Cambridge have combined against American teams, brought out three new records, the same time two others were equalled.

In winning the pole vault, Sabin Carr, of Yale, shattered the meet record of twenty feet with a vault of thirteen feet. The former record was made by S. S. Cholep of Yale, in 1923.

L. L. Robb, of Harvard, topped the sticks in the 220-yard high hurdles in twenty-five seconds, one-fifth of a second better than the meet record established by T. Huhn of Oxford, in 1923.

LOWE IS THE STAR.—But the outstanding individual of the meet proved to be an English runner, D. G. A. Lowe of Cambridge. Lowe won the half-mile in the record-breaking time of 1:53.2-5 and then gave his team an even break on the mile in the final event, winning the mile in 4:21, two-fifths of a second slower than the record.

Lowe's time for the half-mile was 1:53.5, of a second better than the meet record established by Tom Campbell of Yale in 1921.

In winning the 100-yard dash, A. H. Miller, Harvard's star, not only defeated Bayes Norton, Yale's crack sprinter, but he equalled the meet record for the yard race, set by W. A. Schick of Harvard in the 1904 competitions.

Marjorie Leeming Brings
Home Three More Titles

Local Tennis Star is New Ladies' Singles Champion of Canada; With Miss Tatlow She Won Ladies' Doubles and John Proctor Helped Her to Win Mixed Doubles; A Wonderful Performance

Vancouver, July 13 (Canadian Press).—For the first time in several years all major tennis titles in the gift of the Canadian Lawn Tennis Association will be held within the Dominion for the next twelve months.

With an attendance which occupied every available seat at the Vancouver Club on Saturday afternoon, Willard Crocker of Montreal and his doubles partner, Jack Wright, eliminated the last of the Americans in both doubles and singles, Crocker scoring a popular victory in the feature event when he handed Wally Scott of Tacoma a setback which he and his American friends scarcely expected. The singles scores were 6-4, 9-7, 18-16 and 6-2.

Outstanding in the closing day of the Canadian championships was the performance of Marjorie Leeming of Victoria who won three finals every event in which she entered. She defeated Mrs. H. F. Wright of Ottawa in straight sets, 7-5, and 6-4 in the singles, then met and defeated—with Miss Helen Tatlow of Vancouver, as her partner—Mrs. Wright of Ottawa and Mrs. Muir of Vancouver, also in two sets, each of which went 6-1.

Then in the mixed doubles with John Proctor, the elongated youth of Victoria, she won the final from Miss Gillespie and Jack McGill of Vancouver, this time by two sets of 6-3.

Thus Victoria walked off with three championships. Crocker and Wright scored an international victory by trouncing Wallace Scott, Tacoma and Leon Turenne, Seattle, taking the first two, and the fourth sets, closing the third at love. The scores were 6-3, 6-2, 9-6 and 6-2.

WON JUNIORS AS WELL.

The Coast scored again and figured in the title events when McMaster and Shields of Vancouver, won the junior doubles. Gilbert Nunn of Toronto won the junior singles on Friday.

Following the matches the handsome trophies were presented by Mrs. W. G. Murray, wife of the president of the Vancouver club, after her husband had spoken in a congratulatory vein. G. H. Meldrum, president of the C.L.T.A., presented the Meldrum Cup for the men's singles and completed the Coast officials on the efficient manner in which they had conducted the big tourney.

ON DAVIS CUP TEAM

Members of the selection committee were a unit in stating that Crocker and Wright without question would be their recommendation for Canada's Davis Cup team against Australia on August 12, 13 and 14 on the courts of the Mount Royal Club, Montreal. A spare man has not yet been decided on.

Leroy Rennie of Toronto, Mrs. Wright of Ottawa, Mrs. Bourque of Edmonton and F. C. Casselman of the same city, went over on Sunday to take part in the B.C. Championships this week.

Here's one where the poker player can start with 16 horizontal. If you don't play poker begin with the first word, as usual.

Cross-word Puzzle 2363

HOW TO SOLVE THE CROSS-WORD PUZZLE
Every number in the form represents the beginning of a word, reading either horizontally or vertically. If there is a black square to the left of the number, the word is horizontal; if above it, the word is vertical. The same number may of course begin both as a horizontal and a vertical. The definitions for the correct words to fill the form are found below, with numbers corresponding to those on the form. Run through the definitions till you find one that you recognize, and put it in its proper place on the form, one letter for each white square. This will furnish several cross-clues to the words linking with it at right angles. Continue in this manner till the form is completely filled. If you have solved the puzzle correctly it should read both horizontally and vertically with words corresponding to the definitions. The correct solution of to-day's puzzle will be printed in the next issue of The Times.

"The Steadfast Heart"

By Clarence Budington Kelland

"I just got out," Titus went on. He patted his chest. "They kept me in till I got this here cough. . . . Twelve years I served—and that hain't no joke to any man. . . . Set me free with a five-dollar bill and this here suit—so I come a-lookin' fer you—for my little ANGE." Lydia covered against the shrubbery, her eyes big with horror—her disgust, for Titus was not a pleasant object to look upon.

"I hadn't no other place to go to," Titus said, "and I got this here cough. . . . I knowed how welcome I'd be." He leered again. "It's gone to carry me off, but I kinder wanted to die comfortable—so I come back to give ye a chance to do your duty like a good and obedient son."

Angus spoke in a leaden voice. "I thought you were dead," he said.

"Hoped I was dead; ye mean. . . . Perty son I got. Grateful son, hain't ye? Shamed of your ol' pa, th' don't so much fer ye. Livin' in hifalutin' style and rollin' in money. . . . W-a-l, your pa's goin' to git some of it, begrudge it or not. I'm a-goin' to git a place to lay my head and vittles and a bed to die in."

Lydia stirred. "Angus," she whispered, "come away. . . . Come away."

Titus Burke glared at her and his son through red lids. "You needn't to think you kin git away from me," he said venomously. "Cause ye can't. I'll follow ye around. I'll call out to ye on the streets. I'll—"

"Hush," said Angus, and he reached out his hand to touch Lydia's—but she avoided his touch. . . . He looked at his father, an object in the form of a man that was an insult to Heaven! Yet that man was his father! The man was dying. . . . Titus Burke waited, his eyes peering with malicious cunning at Angus and a bed to die in. . . . I'll hang around and torment ye. . . . I'm sick and ye got to take me in. . . . He said, "Be still," said Angus. He turned to Lydia and saw a face of anguish.

"Angus!" she cried.

"I should have known," he said in a low voice. "I should have thought of this. . . . I should have known."

She covered her face with her hands to shut out the sight of the man the father of her one she loved—who would become her own father-in-law and the grandfather of her children. Her soul cried out in revolt. . . . The disgrace of it! To have the world point to Titus Burke as her husband's father. . . .

"I can't turn him away," Angus said dully. "He's my father."

"Your father," she repeated after him. "Your father. . . . Oh!"

"He's dying—old—helpless. . . . I can't."

She raised her head. "You mean—you will take him in—let him live in Rainbow—where people will see and know."

"I—I got to, Lydia."

She sprang away from him with fists clenched, eyes flashing as with fever. "You would take him in—that! To have people point to. To disgrace you—and me! . . . You shan't. . . . You shan't. It's horrible. Oh, Angus, send him away now! Before anybody can know."

"Lydia—dear—I can't send him away. . . . He's dying."

She was calmer in a moment, laid her hand upon his arm pleadingly. "Send him away, Angus. . . . I'll go into the house, and you—you send him away before I come back. . . . For me. . . . I'll pretend this never happened—that it was a—horrid dream. . . . For me, Angus. . . . Please—please!"

He shook his head.

"Not for me? . . . Not to keep me?"

"No. . . . He paused. "I know—I always knew—it was impossible."

Suddenly she pushed Angus from her. "Don't touch me. . . . Don't come near me. . . . You have your choice—me or that! Send him away and I'll forget him. . . . But I won't have people see him, know he is the father of the man I am going to marry. . . . That man or me!"

was purchased through to New York. . . . She left no words, said no good-bys. . . . None knew her ultimate destination or the probable duration of her absence. . . .

CHAPTER XXIX

Titus Burke became a familiar figure on Rainbow's streets. At first he had been a nine days' wonder, but, strangely enough, there was no reaction against Angus—even when in fact Rainbow seemed unable to look upon the man as Angus's father. From the beginning it disassociated the two and did not hold Titus Burke against his son. . . . Rather than reviving the town's prejudice, it called forth its sympathy. Rainbow had been slow in making a place for Angus, but having taken him into his heart it would not displace him except for gravest cause. Rainbow was hide-bound, stiff-necked in its virtues as well as in its shortcomings.

So Rainbow regarded Titus Burke as a sort of visitation, not as a flesh and blood individual; as a burden to be borne, a trial, in the scriptural sense. . . . Titus was not a pleasing individual even in his best moments; he was sullen, morose, whining, fault-finding. Also he was exceedingly unclean and it appeared to be his chief pleasure to humiliate his son by parading himself before Rainbow's eyes. He harbored a snarling, snapping, vindictive hatred for the young man's prosperity and decency. Publicly and privately he complained, accusing Angus of meanness, harping constantly on the string that Angus was ashamed of him—and in the same breath boasting of his own inequities. . . . His ingenuities were quite diabolical.

The Resident of Rainbow who manifested the most interest in Titus Burke was none other than Jake Schwartz. Titus intrigued Jake and irritated him. He remembered well that meeting with Titus Burke years ago—in the presence of Lydia Canfield—when Titus had sought to drag away his son; and ever since that day, in odd moments, he had tried to fit the man into the proper slots in his memory. Jake was sure he had known Titus, sure he had worked with him, but when or where he could not recall. . . . It ruffled Jake's truculent disposition to be thus frustrated, and he went out of his way to observe Titus, to talk to him, to scrutinize him, to pry into him.

"I tell you," he said to Bishwhang, "I've known that fellow somewhere. You can't fool me on faces. . . ."
